Black Lives Matter and Anti-Racism

- Hello, and happy Arts Week!
 - As you might know, the theme of Arts Week is Black Lives Matter. In the Music Department we'd like you to explore this theme by writing your own rap (or song).
 - Think about what this topic means to you and put together some lyrics - rhyming couplets are good for a starting point. Then choose a backing track (search 'rap backing track' for lots of options on YouTube) and practise saying your words in rhythm.
 - Here's some inspiration from Fleur East to get you started: https://youtu.be/Jv5C1Q_h6BQ
 - When you're finished, email a recording (sound or video, but not with your face please) of your rap to me. It's probably best to upload it to Office365 and send me the link, or use a file sharing service like wetransfer.com.
 - The best ones will be shared with the school (with your permission) at the end of the week. We're looking forward to hearing them!
